FIFTY-THIRD YEAR No. 39.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1930

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

"HIT-SKIP" DRIVER IS LOCATED BY SHERIFF TATE

Charles Ellison, 25, is being held in the county jail in default of bail on a wreckless driving charge.

The affidavit was filed by Sherman Cotton, who resides north of town on the Charles Clemens farm. Cotton and his family were hit west of town late Friday night and their machine greatly damaged. The driver of the car escaped and the matter turned over to Sheriff Ohmer Tate, who later found a car with damaged front wheel in a ditch on the Massies Creek cemetery road. The Sheriff recognized the car at once and had Ellison taken up by the Xenia police.

It is said Cotton had no trouble in identifying Ellison and charges were filed. He pleaded not guilty in Probate Court and his hearing was set for Thursday afternoon.

Ellison's father, John, is at present serving a $100 fine and costs on a possession of liquor charge.

Contractors Near End On Water and Sewer Plant Contract

The Pittsburgh-Des Moines Company is nearing the end of the work for completion of the village municipal water works and sewerage contract. The work has been in progress better than five months and considering the amount of stone encountered the work has progressed rapidly. The unusual dry weather has been much in favor of the company.

The water system is practically completed other than a 250 foot line on East Elm street where there will be no rock. It is estimated this work can be finished in a day.

The contractors are now at work on the Cedar street sewer line. The cut will be about ten feet at the deepest place but eight feet of this will be dirt excavation.

There is yet one cross section of water and sewer lines just south of the Main street bridge to connect the East side of Main with the lines on the West side.

The pumping plant has been completed for several weeks and is in daily use. The water service is available in most parts of town, but the use of the sewers will be denied until the outlet of the line at the plant of The Hagar Straw Board & Paper Company is completed to connect with the paper company's reservoirs west of town. It will also be necessary for the village to adopt the state code under orders of the State Board of Health before the sewer lines can be put to use after the work is completed.

Local officials must be guided by state regulations on matters in connection to municipal sewers and those desiring plans will be compelled to meet the state code.

Mrs. McElroy was the daughter of Levi and Altha Whitman and spent her entire life on the farm where she died with the exception of twenty-one years when she resided in Cedarville. She was the last of her immediate family and was a member of the Second United Presbyterian Church, Xenia.

She is survived by a son, David, with whom she made her home and a step-son, J. R. McElroy, Dayton. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home and burial was made in Massies Creek Cemetery.

Opening of Cedarville Public Schools

September 1, 1930 marked the beginning of another school year, with an enrollment of 200 pupils in the High School, and 256 in the Graded. We were indeed very lucky that our good superintendent, Mr. H. D. Faust on account of illness, was unable to be with us on our opening day, for a crew without a captain is wont to flounder.

To our fine and cooperative patrons, faculty (including Mr. Ross) and students, ministers, Board of Education, and Dr. McChesney who made possible for us all a very enjoyable and profitable morning, we want to take this opportunity to say, "Thank you, one and all."

At 9 o'clock we assembled in the Auditorium. Mrs. Foster led the assembly in the singing of "America" after which Dr. Jamieson read Psalm 144 and Dr. Harriman led in prayer. Miss Rife then introduced Mr. Creswell, President of Board of Education, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Jamieson, Mrs. Lane, Miss Hanna, Miss Riegel (our new Home Ec. teacher), Mr. Orr (our new Coach), and Mr. Ross. They all responded with few but well-chosen words.

We next had the pleasure of listening to our loyal Dr. McChesney, who delivered to us a most excellent address, and needless to say, an address profitable to every one within his hearing.

After several announcements we adjourned to our Home Rooms for registration, assignments, etc.

At 9 o'clock 256 Graded pupils were also assembling. We were not assembling in the Auditorium but in our respective Home rooms to meet and welcome and be advised by our good and sympathetic teachers: Mrs. Halstead, Misses Smith, Wittenmeyer (our new Second Grade teacher), Trumbo, Lewis, McFarland (our new Fifth Grade teacher) and Mrs. Barber.

At 11 o'clock every one, both High School and Graded were dismissed for the afternoon.

—CARRIE M. RIFE, Principal.

COLLEGE NOTES

The outlook for the Cedarville College Music Department is very fine. All pupils who plan to study music this year should enroll as early as possible in order to have choice of lesson periods.

Miss Berkley, director of music, will be in the Music Studio (in the Library Building) Monday and Tuesday (September 8 and 9) from 9:30 A. M. to 12:00 for the purpose of enrolling students.

The thirty-seventh year of Cedarville College opens next Wednesday morning, September 10, 9:30 o'clock. The address will be made by Mr. Frank B. McMillin, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. Music will be furnished by the Department of Music. All are cordially invited to attend the opening exercises.

There will be three new members on the Faculty this year. Prof. A. J. Hostetter who has been in the Department of Education the past three years, has just been chosen Registrar this summer and will teach some Sciences and the finishing up work for Juniors and Seniors in Education and will assist in the office: Miss Jean A. Wolfe, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, Ohio State University and Office Training School, will be Secretary and will teach Spanish, class in English and some Commercial subjects. Mrs. Dossa V. Kuehrmann, a graduate of Indiana State University and a graduate student of Columbia University, will be director of the Commercial Department. Prof. C. W. Steele, who has been with the College the past two years, was chosen at the mid-winter Board Meeting as Dean of the college. He and Miss Wolfe will also assist in the office. Miss Helen Baker, who has been assisting in the office during the summer months, will be a student in the Commercial Department and will continue to assist in the office during the coming year.

All students, both former and new, should register Monday and Tuesday, September 8 and 9.

All books should be purchased and paid for on Registration days. The tuition fee and student activity fees should also be paid for the first semester on the registration days.

The college this week received a gift of $1,000 for the endowment fund coming from a friend in a distant state. The college feels deeply grateful for these gifts which coming from a distance only shows the widespread interest in Cedarville's success.

FARMER TAKES LIFE

Abraham Miller, farmer, Bath township, fired a revolver shot through his right temple in his bedroom at the home of his brother, J. H. Miller, Monday. The aged man had not been in good health and this is given as the reason for suicide.

Coming Down to Earth

Frank B. McMillin To Be Speaker

Out of the social, political and religious chaos which prevails in many quarters these days a new voice is being heard. It is heard in high places as well as from the rank and file of those engaged in the daily grind of business and commercial life. This voice is the voice of business. What is the business man's viewpoint on the social, economic and religious problems of today?

To get this viewpoint we have invited a business man and manufacturer, Frank B. McMillin of Mount Pleasant, Ohio, to be our speaker at the opening of Cedarville College, next Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

In order to establish Mr. McMillin's right to speak on economic, religious and social problems it is appropriate that I quote briefly some facts concerning his contacts and experience, which may be gleaned from "Who's Who in Ohio" which has been placed in circulation within the past few days.

Mr. McMillin is vice president and general manager of The Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co., Mount Pleasant, Ohio. He has been the executive in charge of his large industrial plant for 28 years.

He served as president of the Manufacturers' Association of Central Ohio, and has continued his interest in this organization as a director. He is president of the Ohio State Chamber of Commerce, now filling his seventh consecutive term in this capacity. This is the largest civic organization of its kind in the United States. It has an executive and clerical force with headquarters in the Huntington Bank Bldg., Columbus, Ohio, of 24 people, and a membership of 4,000 business men representing every line of business activity in Ohio.

In 1929 he was elected president of the National Association of State Chambers of Commerce. Previous to entering the manufacturing business he was engaged in a successful retail business.

He served at one time as Probate Judge of his county—Morrow. In religious affairs he has served in practically every capacity to which a layman is eligible in the Presbyterian church, from janitor to filling the pulpit. He was Sunday School superintendent for 25 years; elder 27 years; trustee and church treasurer for 15 years. In the larger religious and church activities he served for an extended period as a director and trustee of the General Board of Education of his denomination, with headquarters in New York. This is a national organization having control of college and educational affairs, including the administration of large funds received through bequests and other gifts.

He also served as secretary and trustee 17 years for the Westminster Foundation organized and chartered by the Synod of Ohio for promoting religious education in state supported and controlled colleges and universities, being charter member of this organization.

During his busy life Mr. McMillin's special genius has been for work—starting on the brick yard as a boy, on the farm as a hired hand, and continuing to exert his habits of energy and industry through all the various contacts mentioned.

Soil survey maps are now available for about one-third of the counties in Ohio, from the bureau of soils, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Marathon Golfers

HOWARD FREED—ROBERT HOPKINS.

The Miniature Golf Marathon at 4:45 A. M. had their hopes realized. The Old Mill Camp that has been going since two o'clock Monday afternoon, August 25, came to an abrupt end at 1:45 A. M. Thursday morning when Robert Hopkins, Jamestown, was declared the winner. Hopkins broke the world's record of continuous play which was 125 hours established at Piqua, Ohio. He more than doubled the score with 281 hours.

His contender for honors was Howard Freed, Jamestown, who lost out at 3:45 A. M., with a score of 230 hours, an hour previous to that of Hopkins. It is said Freed became stunned from loss of sleep that he lost his ball and it was some little time before he could locate it. When he did so he could not remember his last play and the referee declared him out of the game. Dr. G. H. Schick was called and examined Freed but found him in good condition physically other than suffering from the loss of sleep. Two of his buddies took him to his home in Jamestown. The Hopkins family had kept a nightly vigil hoping their son would be the winner and at last it was accomplished.

The players all were required to play forty-five minutes and then given fifteen minutes for sleep or rest. Undaunted by hot sun or thunderstorms the players continued the game day and night.

Thousands of people flocked to the Old Mill Camp from all nearby cities to witness the game and have a look at the players. Night after night many automobile parties remained until early morning. Large delegations of Jamestown people visited the camp daily to see their favorite players.

The marathon was staged under the direction of Paul Wright, who has had charge of the miniature golf course for Edward Payne, the owner.

Auto Smash-up and Three are Injured

A bad auto accident Labor Day took place at Wilberforce on the Columbus pike Monday afternoon, when three cars figured in the jam. Traffic was unusually heavy and as can be expected there was much fast driving. A small roadster driven by Robert Frank, Rochester, Mich., side-swiped two cars traveling west. Three persons were injured and given treatment at the McClellan hospital.

Only One Veteran From Greene County

The National G. A. R. encampment in Cincinnati last week drew several thousand members regardless of the fact that the youngest member is now well up in years. The encampment was held in Cincinnati in 1898 and at that time 35,000 members marched in the parade. At present there are around 20,000 members and but comparatively few of the present membership present were able to march.

We are informed that Greene county had but one representative and that was T. V. Huff of this place. He celebrated his 86th birthday several weeks ago.

O. A. DOBBINS WRITES FROM OLD WORLD

August 14, 1930

Dear Homefolks and Cedarville Herald:
This finds us back in Italy after traveling over 12,000 miles, in all kinds of conveyances from ocean liners to ox team sleds. We found Palestine and Syria both quaint and interesting. We landed at Jaffa, the old Jaffa, where Jonah took boat to get away from Nineveh and where Peter had his vision on the housetop and this house is shown us but tourists who have been here before tell us they are showing another house than the one they showed ten years ago.

Palestine is a land of rocks, rocks or stones everywhere, stone houses and fences, large stones and small ones, round one and sharp ones, just stones, stones, stones.

Palestine is a land of extremes in more ways than one. The extremely poor and the rich. Extremely rich soil and very poor soil. Sub tropical plants growing in the valley within sight of snow capped mountains.

And you can see more beggars here in a day than at home in a lifetime. Mothers carrying babies and little boys and girls 10 to 12 years old carrying babies on their hips and begging from every passer-by. Saw one blind man carried on the shoulder of another man begging and even running along beside the autos for quite a distance. One little fellow with one eye out and the other one sore came up to our machine and in broken english said no mamma, no papa, please and held out his hand. The children in America don't know what they have even if they do have to go to school when they don't want to sometimes.

Never saw as many goats in all my life as we saw one day in Syria, big big flocks within sight at one time and they were big black fellows, larger than our sheep or goats in America. We visited Damascus, Nayareth, Bethlehem and Hebron and at Bethany were shown the house of Mary and Martha. Rode from Jerusalem to Jerico over that narrow mountain road and walked along the Dead Sea and Jordan River.

Spent one day and fished along the Sea of Galilee which is a beautiful body of water 8 by 12 miles in size and across it can be seen the rugged mountain shores of the land of the Gurgasites where the swine ran down into the sea when the devils were cast into them and it was this same range of mountains that was the burial place of Moses. From Palestine to Egypt by rail road through part of the Arabian desert was an experience for us not soon to be forgotten where you can see thousands of acres of sand without a living thing in it not even brush or a weed.

Egypt is far more productive than Palestine and with a soil 35 to 40 feet deep as rich as our best valley land and a warm climate they can produce 2 crops per year and sometimes 3 of small crops.

Land is worth $1,000 to $1,200 per acre and rents for $75 per acre per year so they must produce something. Cotton is their main cash crop and all land is farmed in small tracts and most of the work done by hand as they have 1,000 people per square mile. The plowing is done with oxen hitched 8 to 10 feet apart and one person drives while another holds the plow a crude wooden affair with a steel point.

Our visit to the Missions and Assault College, 360 miles up the river gave us a better view of both the Mission work and the agriculture of the Nile valley. The missions are doing a grand work but there remains a lot to be done. We never realized what the missionaries had to contend with till we endured that heat, the flies, mosquitoes and filth, so common in Egypt, especially in the mud villages, and three-fourths of the people live in these villages. America for us yet for awhile.

O. A. DOBBINS.

First Big Rainfall Was On Sunday

This section of Ohio received the first big rainfall of the summer Sunday. Rain began to fall about 3 a. m. and continued until about noon. More than one inch of rain is reported. The rain will be valuable to late corn and gardens and will do much to bring on grass for fall pasture. Another light rain fell Tuesday evening.

OHIO HOLDS HER FAIR RECORD WELL

In these days when everyone seems to be making comparisons to show just how bad conditions are over the country, Ohio can hold her head high and feel complimented on the result of the State Fair. In point of numbers the fair did not equal records of 1929 which was a record breaking year for there was no drought and not so much heard of economic conditions and the attendance broke all records. We are told the attendance this year dropped something like 8 per cent. When this is compared with a fifty per cent drop at the Missouri State Fair and 30 per cent decrease at the Indiana State Fair, Ohio has reason to congratulate herself. The State Fair is one of the outstanding exhibitions in the entire country. Few of the states have been able to equal the Ohio show in point of display and appointments. The grounds are extensive and the buildings well-kept. This year a new sheep barn covering two and one-half acres was opened for the first time. Director of Agriculture Perry Green has reason to be proud of the success of the fair and Ohio owes a real debt to his ability to manage the big event and keep raising the standard each year.

WAGE CONDITIONS UNDER GOING CHANGE

Regardless of the fact that President Hoover and public spirited men have been appealing to industrial leaders to maintain present wage scales, there seems to be a gradual reduction in many quarters. Press dispatches stated a few days ago that two of the largest tire manufacturers in Akron had announced a ten per cent reduction in salaries.

During the depression most factories have endeavored to give employees work on part time at the old scale. Some few laid off men and later took old employees back at reduced wages or new men on a lower scale. The National Cash Register Company early in the summer reduced wages in some departments but this week these employees have been restored to the old scale.

The Pennsylvania railroad inaugurates a new system this month that is a wage reduction plan in the final analysis. As in the local situation the agent is reduced to the rank of a clerk at a salary of a clerk which of course is much under that paid agents in the past. Control of the station is vested in another city. Just how this will suit shippers and those having business with the railroad company it is hard to tell at this time. About the best that can be said for the Pennsylvania is that it never has had in its history any too much interest in the public except when the company was facing critical legislation and then the public was asked to stand by the company.

WILL PROHIBITION CONTINUE OR GO DOWN?

The coming election this fall will in some respects be another test in prohibition strength. Politics and politicians can either make it an issue or not just as they please. Senator Fess, who is to direct the campaign says prohibition will not be an issue this fall and gives as his reason that it is now in the constitution and can only be removed by the same method in which it was adopted.

In a few states the prohibition issue will be first, particularly Illinois. J. Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for Senator is running on a wet platform for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, is the Republican nominee and says she will vote which ever way the state votes on the referendum this fall, although personally her sentiments are for the dry cause. The dry leaders that aided in her nomination are now looking for an independent candidate that will run on the dry platform.

In Ohio Senator McCullough will ask support of the voters on a dry platform while his opponent, Robert J. Buckley, Democrat, was nominated on a plea of repeal of the prohibition laws. Both Republican and Democratic nominees for governor are regarded dry and this question will not bother them.

There is no question but what public sentiment is indifferent toward the success of prohibition at this time. Many that voted dry originally have protested the manner of prohibition enforcement. Another element that has become discussed is the manner in which politicians can use the issue to climb into public office. The weakest point is that while conditions are much improved over the old system we have never had as much prohibition enforcement as paid dry leaders would have the public believe. We believe this has had more to do with undermining public confidence than anything else.

NATION HAS PLENTY OF RULERS

The public has been informed by James W. Gerard, wartime ambassador to Germany, that the United States is ruled by 59 leaders among whom are John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Andrew Mellon, J. P. Morgan, Henry Ford, W. R. Hearst, Charles Schwab and others prominent in the banking and industrial world. In the list we do not find the name of President Hoover but he is recognized as president and not connected with any of the industrial groups that exert great influence on national legislation and have much to say about governmental activities.

Editorial comment on the Gerard suggestion that these 59 men rule the nation varies greatly. The general view is that Mr. Gerard is right in his assumption but the question is how many of them are using their power to the detriment of the people. It must be admitted these men have been successful in their own respective lines of endeavor or they would not be credited with influence enough, regardless of their wealth, to have an influence on governmental affairs. While these men control billions of dollars they must depend on the public to buy their products. If they are protecting their property by suggesting legislation are they not also protecting property belonging to the average citizen?

Again it must be admitted many of these men are turning back many millions of their wealth each year in various ways for the advancement of science and education as well as protecting the health of the nation. The people of this nation may regard these men as industrial captains and follow their lead but the nation is educated to a point it would refuse to even accept dictation on matters that would be detrimental to all the people. We not only need the 59 rulers as so-called but must have men of their capacity to lead so long as their leadership meets public approval.

MONEY PAID WHEN WEIGHED

This Week

by Arthur Brisbane

Great German Airman
Big City Corruption
"Ruler" in Background
Weapon Against Reds

A fine young man is Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, who came from Germany via Iceland, Greenland and Halifax, more than 4,000 miles, in forty-seven hours of flying time, stopping on the way for fuel.

He will live to make that and longer flights in one "hop," and to cross the ocean in 20 hours.

Animosities die out. Flyers of our army and navy welcome a Gronau who only a few years ago had his mind concentrated on bombing our ships and those of our allies.

He tells interesting, simple stories of his experience in the war and the various occasions on which he and his airplane were "shot down."

He ought to meet our crack American war flyer, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who brought down more German planes than any other American. Perhaps he was one of those that had the honor of bringing down the zeppelin Gronau.

After the war Von Gronau went back to farming on his estate in Prussia, and then started a flying school. He flew over here to give one of his pupils a really good lesson.

Mayor Walker, head of the biggest, richest city in the world, invites approximately 100 conspicuous citizens to discuss privately conditions of graft, bribery, etc.

The mayor is in earnest and has every reason to be.

But 100 or 100,000 "leading citizens" could not deal with graft, bribery and crime while bootlegging and its allied trades take in yearly a bigger income than that of the United States government.

Most startling in the revelations of New York corruption, which include purchasing of public officials, magistrates, judges, etc., is the statement that one judge paid $200,000 for his seat on the bench.

The amount would be about $5,000 more than the total salary that he would earn in his fourteen-year term.

This means that some one else supplied the $200,000, and common sense indicates that the "somebody else" must have been a boss criminal, able with the aid of a judge "owned by him," to get back his $200,000 with interest.

It is a strange picture of American civilization and "good government" in the year of our Lord 1930 and the eleventh year of the era of prohibition of bootlegging.

Mr. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, adds five to his list of men that rule the United States, increasing the 59 to 64. He adds: S. Z. Mitchell, president Electric Bond & Share company; Walter Edwin Frew, head of the Corn Exchange Bank Trust company; Amideo P. Giannini, powerful Italian banker; William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor; and Matthew Woll, another union man, to his list of 59, making 64.

Somewhere in the background stands some individual not named, perhaps the ablest among corporation lawyers, who has more influence than the 64 put together, because he tells them what to think and what they can do.

You will notice in his list of 64 that "govern the United States" Mr. Gerard still includes no President, Vice President, senator, governor—not one person elected by the people. They must be bad choosers.

Mr. Lehman, lieutenant governor of New York, rich and intelligent, tells others of the prosperous class that the best weapon against Communism and radicalism generally is high wages, "leading to prosperity, happiness, self-respect and pride in home and country."

Mr. Lehman is right. All the alleged Russian propaganda multiplied by a thousand could not create as many dissatisfied "radicals" in this country as a year or two of depression followed by a foolish attempt to reduce wages.

Cut sixty billions a year in wages to forty billions and you would cut down prosperity by much more than twenty billions a year. It is the amount paid in wages above the bare cost of existence that creates prosperity.

There comes a dreadful surprise after all our efforts to be good, helped by the Anti-Saloon league, Y. W. C. A. and so many other "virtue" organizations.

Dr. Eugene Laymen Fisk, specialist in health, and vice president of the Life Extension institute, sails for Europe leaving this message: "Man has three outlets for his energies—alcoholic intoxication, love and work."

And, says Doctor Fisk, "It is not a bad idea to mix the three about evenly."

To be too good, according to this observer, puts too much of a strain on man's nature. He quotes a philosopher who says that a wave of barbarism sweeping over civilization every 600 years is a good thing, as it wipes out "complexes."

This will shock those who with air... of well-known grandiose... terrorism, dictatorship, assassinations and other inhibitions.

Hessian Fly Population Increases 50 Per Cent—Entomologists Set Seeding Date

Safe seeding dates for wheat will be more important this fall than last, especially in southeastern Ohio, checks on the Hessian Fly population in wheat fields before harvest this year have led entomologists for the agricultural extension service of Ohio State University to believe.

The annual survey, first made in 1918, discloses this year that the fly population has increased approximately 50 per cent. The number of straws infested this year was 6.8 per cent, compared with 4.6 per cent for 1929. In spite of this increase, the situation this year is more favorable than for any year since the surveys were begun, with the exception of last year, the entomologists say.

A group of counties in southwestern Ohio now have infestations which average over 10 per cent, which, entomologists declare, is the point beyond which danger lies, especially if a rapid increase were sustained this year. The remainder of the state has no great amount of Hessian fly present. Heaviest infestation was found again in Butler County, where 34 per cent of the straws were infested.

The situation for the next year is not alarming, and serious Hessian fly damage is not expected over the state. Butler, with almost three times the infestation of neighboring counties, apparently has maintained its infestation through the practice of seeding wheat early in standing corn.

The safe seeding dates, which are permanently set, are after September 22 for northern Ohio, for Williams, Fulton and Lucas Counties, and progressively later to the south. The date for Clermont and Highland Counties is October 3. Wheat sown after these dates seldom is more than lightly infested.

Blue Smackover

Near the Ouachita River in Southern Arkansas there is a little town called Smackover—a name now world famous because of the Crude Oil this field produces. These Crudes contain a high natural content of the so called aromatics naphthenes and unsaturates petroleum compounds which produces the desired anti-knock quality. This unusual gasoline COMBINES IN ONE MOTOR FUEL every desirable quality required by high compression motors and in addition contains the same quick starting and smooth operating characteristics that are popularized High Test Gasoline. The great power found in Smackover accounts not only for its remarkable anti-knock performance but likewise is responsible for considerably higher mileage yields per gallon.

Miss Jennie Lusk Bride
Of Wesley Miller, Akron

The following account of the marriage of Miss Jennie Lusk, formerly of the State Normal Department of Cedarville College, to Mr. Wesley Miller of Akron last Saturday, was taken from the Marion Star:

Simplicity marked the church wedding of Miss Jennie Lusk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lusk of south of Marion to Wesley Miller of Akron, in the Trinity Baptist church.

Palma, gladioli and delphiniums decorated the church as a background for the wedding ceremony. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity church read the single ring service in the presence of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was lovely in eggshell chiffon modeled with a long even hemline, with a large silk hat in the same shade, and accessories to correspond. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink roses, blue delphiniums and baby breath.

Miss Irene Thurston of Marion was her maid of honor. She was in poudre blue chiffon with gray accessories and a gray silk hat. Yellow roses and pink larkspur composed her arm corsage.

Henry Spangler of Pittsburgh attended Mr. Miller as best man.

Following a wedding dinner at Hotel Harding, at which the immediate families and close friends were guests, Mr. and Mrs. Miller left on a month's motor trip through Canada. She was in brown flat crepe for her going-away costume.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Miller will live in Cleveland where he is identified as a chemical engineer with the H. H. Robertson Co. of Pittsburgh. Both are graduates of the Ohio State University. For the last three years Mrs. Miller has been on the faculty of Cedarville college at Cedarville, Ohio.

Lesson for September 7

JOSEPH, A ROYAL REFORMER

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 22:1-8; 23:1-25

GOLDEN TEXT—Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Joseph "Finds God's Book."
JUNIOR TOPIC—Joseph's Rare Find.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The World's Debt to Reformers.

I. Joseph a Godly Young King (22:1, 2).

He did that which was right in the sight of the Lord and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left. About one hundred years elapsed between the reformation under Hezekiah and that of Josiah. Sometime during this period the book of God's law had been lost. Two wicked kings had reigned in the interval. The Lord had given to Hezekiah much wealth. His son, Manasseh, coming into possession of his father's property and being ungodly would naturally neglect the Bible, if not purposely try to put it from sight. Those who do not obey the word of God are usually interested in putting it out of sight.

1. The occasion (vv. 9-8).

It was while restoring the temple during Josiah's reformation that the law was discovered. In clearing out the dark corners to make repairs and to find a place to store the subscriptions made by the people, many things which had been lost were found, among which was the law.

2. The Book read before the king (vv. 9, 10).

Upon making a report of the work to the king Shaphan informed him of the finding of the book of the law of the Lord, and the book was read by Shaphan before the king.

11. The Effect of the Reading of the Law (vv. 11-20).

1. The king rent his clothes (v. 11). As the law was read before him he was led to realize the awful extent of the nation's departure from God. He knew that sin merited punishment. The reading of the royal rolls indicated the king's penitence and sorrow.

2. The king sent a deputation to make inquiry of the Lord (vv. 12-20). He included himself in the guilt before God (v. 13). His sense of sin was so keen that he sent to inquire of the Lord as to whether there was any means of diverting the divine judgments. Instinctively the human heart turns from God's threatening judgments to a means of escape.

3. The message of Huldah, the prophetess (vv. 15-20).

(1) Confirmation of what the law said (vv. 15-17).

She said that all the curses written in the law must follow, for the sins had been so flagrant that God's wrath could not be restrained. It was not too late, however, upon repentance to obtain mercy from God, but the outward consequences of sin must be realized.

(2) Acceptance of Josiah's repentance (vv. 18-20).

Because of his tenderness of heart and deep penitence, the Lord said he should be gathered to his grave in peace and should not see all the evil brought on Jerusalem and its people. What Huldah said was true though Josiah died in battle (II Chron. 35:22-25).

1. The king read the law (vv. 1, 2). He gathered together the inhabitants of Jerusalem, including the priests, Levites, and elders, and read unto them the law.

In this covenant he pledged himself. (1) "To walk before the Lord." This meant that he would get personally right with God.

(2) "To keep God's commandments and his testimonies and his statutes." This obedience was of the heart.

(3) "To perform the words of the covenant which were written in this book." The king not only entered into this sincerely, but caused all that were present to "stand to" it.

3. The king took away the abominations (vv. 4-20).

He not only broke down the places of idolatrous worship, but slew the priests who officiated at the altar.

4. Passover kept (vv. 21-23).

So fully and heartily did they enter into this reformation that this Passover was unlike any that had been held since the days of the Judges.

6. Workers of the occult driven out (vv. 24, 25).

All the days of the king they departed not from following after the Lord.

Imperfect Fruits For Jellies, Jams

New Bulletin, Fresh From Press Explains Finer Points Of Jelly-Making

Undersized, imperfect or overripe fruits, of which there is more than a normal supply this unusual year, may find a "way into jellies, jams, conserves, and marmalades."

This is a suggestion of Emma E. Sparks, specialist in nutrition for the extension service of the Ohio State University, contained in a free bulletin just off the press.

"For the purpose of jelly-making, fruit falls into two classes," it quotes the bulletin, "those from which it may be made easily, as tart apples, crab apples, currants, grapes, blueberries, some plums, quince and raspberries; and those from which jelly can be made when they are combined with other fruits, as cherries, peaches, and strawberries."

"A good jelly-making fruit must contain acid of the right kind, and pectin. Good examples of such fruits are apples and currants. Some fruits have one and not the other. Peaches, for example, have pectin but lack acid, while elderberries lack both. Jelly may be made of fruits of the latter class by the addition of the acid or pectin directly or by blending them with fruits rich in jelly-making properties. Apple juice is the one usually used with fruits having poor jelly-making properties, as it affects color and flavor least."

The bulletin takes up, step by step, methods of preserving these whetters of the appetite. It may be obtained from the office of agricultural publications, Ohio State University.

Bureau Finds Hay Supplies

Names and Addresses of Shippers Available From Bureau At Washington, D. C.

Supplies of timothy and alfalfa hay available for shipment into the drought hurt area have been reported to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, according to word received by the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State University.

Supplies of timothy hay have been reported by shippers in New York, northern Ohio, northern Indiana, and Michigan, where nearly normal crops were produced.

Alfalfa hay supplies are reported principally from Kansas, Nebraska,

New Mexico, and Arizona, which are the leading alfalfa producing areas of the central and southwestern west. Rather plentiful supplies of prairie hay are reported from Nebraska, and moderate quantities from Kansas and Oklahoma.

The names of shippers and their addresses may be obtained from the bureau at Washington, D. C.

These reports are the result of a special survey conducted by the department of agriculture.

Hays from these sections may be shipped through application to the county agricultural agent. The reduced rate is effective only in those counties designated by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde as distressed areas.

Weather Affects Poultry Feeding

Cause Vitamin A Lack In Poultry Ration—Also Reduces Worms

Good feeding of poultry during lean income years is fully as important as in years of good egg and poultry prices, asserts C. M. Ferguson, extension specialist in poultry for the Ohio State University.

Shifting about of rations because of dry weather, and dry weather itself, has raised two problems with which poultrymen ordinarily do not meet, he says. One is vitamin A deficiency in the ration and the second is the reduction in roundworm infestation.

Absence of green feed and the substitution of wheat for yellow corn in the poultry ration may bring about this vitamin deficiency, unless vitamin A is supplied in some other way, explains Ferguson. Wheat doesn't contain it and yellow corn does. It lacks taste to nutritional, rous, he says.

To make up for this deficiency in the diet Ferguson recommends the feeding of alfalfa and soybean hay, or alfalfa leaf meal. As much hay can be fed as the birds will consume, but if the leaf meal is used about 6 to 8 percent of the ration is quantity enough, he declares.

Roundworms, on account of the hot, dry weather, are not as numerous as usual, although the weather had little or no effect on tapeworms, Ferguson says. Before treating for treating for worms he recommends that a poultryman get an absolute diagnosis this year. Treatment for worms is discussed in Ferguson's latest bulletin, "Poultry Parasites and their Control," which may be obtained from the office of agricultural publications at the University.

Shorts and Middlings

Livestock in 20 per cent of Ohio's 88 counties is in good condition, in fair condition in 75 per cent, and in poor condition in 5 per cent, according to estimates of county agricultural agents.

Permits for authorization to apply for reduced tariffs for shipping feed, hay and water to distressed livestock, and for shipping distressed livestock from a county, may be obtained from County Agricultural Agents in the 41 Ohio counties hardest hit by the drought.

Intensive grazing of the farm woodland will set back forest growth 20 or 30 years and in some cases injure the young trees beyond recovery, in the opinion of foresters.

More work for the blacksmiths is reported in Nevada where some livestock men are shoeing their range bulls.

Ice cream production in 1929 reached a total of 365,448,000 gallons, almost 20 million gallons more than for the previous year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

A potato field day, the first of its kind ever arranged in Ohio, will be held at the A. L. Lockhart farm at Lexington, September 17.

European corn borers, too, are suffering from the drought. Entomologists report that many moths were destroyed before they emerged, and moths that did emerge laid fewer eggs than usual.

Unusually large numbers of mosquitoes in several localities in Ohio this year owe their presence to stagnant pools in streams which serve as breeding places for the insects.

Safe seeding dates for wheat to avoid injury from the Hessian fly are September 22 in northern Ohio, and progressively later to the south. In Clermont and Highland counties the date is after October 3.
